LOVE AND MARRIAGE.—At sixteen a girl considers no man good enough to be her husband. She must have a real live archangel, with "humid orbs," a "marble brow," on which "cluster wavy tresses, black as the raven's wing;" a mustache of "silky softness, and ebon hue;" in a word, no human being of flesh and blood qualities, but an altogether sweet and lovely ideal creation, with plenty of money and no small vices. Unfortunately no such person exists. He is a pleasant myth of the school of romance, and has no material form in this world of money-bags and taxes. At eighteen the girl discovers that unwholesome truth, and changes her views accordingly. She is probably in love by that time with some decent looking and amiable young fellow, who though hardly an archangel, does very well to idealize. She either weds him at twenty, settles down into an excellent matron and enjoys her life, or breaks her heart, and at twenty-five marries a man of years, bald but wealthy, and regrets it at her leisure. Such is the general history of maidens who set forth with an idea of marrying nothing short of a novelesque hero.

HOW TO BE HAPPY.—It is the easiest thing in the world to be happy, if men and women could only think so. Happiness is only another name for love, for where love exists in a household there happiness must also exist, even though it has poverty for its close companion, and where love exists not, even though it be in a palace, happiness can never come. He was a cold and selfish being who originated the saying that "when poverty comes in at the door, love flies out of the window," and his assertion proves conclusively that he had no knowledge of love, for unquestionably the reverse of the axiom is nearer the truth. When poverty comes in at the door, love, true love, is more than ever inclined to tarry, and do battle with the enemy Let those who imagine themselves miserable, before they find fault with their surroundings, search in their hearts for the cause. A few kind words, a little forbearance, or a kiss will often open the way to a flood of sunshine in a house darkened by the clouds of discord and unamiability. Try the receipt.

TRUE THEORY OF LOVE.—Love, pure and simple, the very deepest and highest, sweetest and most solemn thing in life; to be believed in devoutly until it comes, and when it does come to be held to, firmly, faithfully, with a singleminded, settled constancy till death—a creed quite impossible, many will say, in this ordinary world, and most dangerous to be put in the head of a poor servant. Yet a woman is but a woman, be she maid servant or queen; and if, from queens to maid-servants, girls were thus taught to think of love, there might be a few more "broken" hearts, perhaps—but there would certainly be fewer wicked hearts; far fewer corrupted lives of women; far fewer unholy marriages, and desolated, dreary, homeless homes.

REPENTANCE.—A good husband will repair his house while the weather is fair; not put it off till winter; a careful pilot will take advantage of the wind and tide, and so put out to sea, not wait till a storm arise. The traveler will take his time on a journey, and mend his pace when night comes on, lest darkness overtake him; the smith will strike while the iron is hot, lest it grow cool, and so he lose his labor; so we ought to make every day the day of repentance; to make use of the present time, so that when we die we have nothing to do but to die, for there will be a time when the door will be shut, when the soul becomes conscious that there will be no entrance at all.

There are those who have no law but the inclination of the moment. The most solemn promises are but cobwebs, to be swept away by the cunning whisper of malice, or the breath of circumstance. Principle, honor, duty, are but as reeds, to be snapped or twisted or warped to meet a present emergency. The annoyance or discomfort of to-day, though self-incurred, is to be avoided at the cost of criminal malice towards others. How should it be else, with those whose life has no governing principle but that of personal ease? who can find reasons and excuses for everything that tends to this, who have no memory for the sacred obligations on which it tramples to promote it? But alas for the day when conscience shall remove this self-stealing film from the eyes, and show that to be a lie which has been delusively hugged as truth; those self-seekers to be foes, who claim the holy title of friends. Alas! for the day when the grave comes between such mistaken ones and the reparation they fain would make.

YOUTH AND MATURITY.—We chide the restlessness of youth; and yet a young man had better never have existed than to be satisfied and contented with all that he sees around him. To have no aspirations for the good and noble, no aims higher than the majority of those around him; to be content to crawl forever on the beaten highway of conservatism, without one generous thrill, one leaping impulse beyond the fettering boundaries of the past.

TIME AND CURE.—A good looking fellow was charged with having stolen a watch. It was his first offence, and he was ready to plead guilty. The magistrate asked him what had induced him to commit the theft. The young man replied that "having been ill for some time, the doctor advised him to take something, which he accordingly did." The magistrate was rather pleased with the humor of the thing, and asked what had led him to select a watch. "Why," said the prisoner, "I thought if I only had the time, Nature would work a cure!"

A certain professor was a very absent-minded man about every-day affairs. His mind was all wrapped up in books, and he cared no more about what the world was up to than a pig cares about the Hottentots. One morning his wife, who differed widely from her spouse in this respect, was reading aloud from a paper an account of a horrible murder. A man had, so the paper said, deliberately killed his whole family, consisting of some dozen members, with an axe. The wife laid down the paper with the exclamation, "The wretch!" "Yes," said the husband, in a very quiet tone, looking up from his book, "he should be talked to."

A bishop, some little time past, got into conversation with a little Irish boy, who was cleaning his windows. Finding he was a Roman Catholic, the following colloquy took place: "You believe, then, that I shall be lost?" said the bishop. "No, sir," said the boy. "You believe that those who die out of your Church are lost, do you not?" "Yes, sir." "Well, if I were to die now I should die out of your Church." "Yes," said the boy, "but you might be saved because of your inconsavable ignorance."

A healthy old man that is not a fool, is the happiest creature living. It is at that time of life only, men enjoy their faculties with satisfaction. It is then we have nothing to manage, as the phrase is; we speak the downright truth, and whether the rest of the world will give us the privilege or not, we have so little to ask of them, that we can take it.

SIR:—I cannot resist informing you of the extraordinary effect I have experienced by taking only a few of your LOZENGES. I had a cough for several weeks that defied all that had been prescribed for me; and yet I got completely rid of it by taking about half a small box of your Lozenges, which I find are the only ones that relieve the cough without deranging the stomach or digestive organs,

I am sir, your humble servant,

RUSSIA'S NEIGHBOURS.

One of the most noticeable features in the complications produced in European politics by the Polish question, is the extremely moderate part taken by the Austrian Government in the affair. From the well known sensitiveness of the Autocrats of Europe to anything threatening an infringement of the privileges of their order, one would naturally expect that an attempt to revive at the expense of one of them a power of liberal tendencies, would be sure to excite the alarm of the rest. More especially would we expect this to be the case when, as in the case of Poland, there might be a possibility of more than one of them being called upon to surrender a portion of their own territory. That this fellow feeling would not remain passive but would be likely to exhibit itself no active measures would follow almost as a matter of course. Accordingly we find that Prussia, if not actually fighting with the Russians against the Poles, is doing all that she dare to assist her fellow Autocracy. By her army of spies along her frontier she gives information of the movements of the insurgents to the Russian commanders; thus enabling the latter to attack their struggling adversaries to the greatest advantage. Are any of the unfortunate Poles forced by circumstances to cross the borders to take refuge in Prussian territory they are immediately seized, disarmed and delivered into the power of their oppressors. There is little doubt too that, were it not for the attitude of England and France, the King of Prussia would proceed much farther in his zeal to uphold Absolutism. Of his own subjects and their rights he seems utterly regardless, if we may judge from the unceremonious way in which he has treated the popular branch of his Legislature.

The assistance he is so anxious to render to Russia is given without their consent, and against their wishes. But if Prussia has, through her king and his ministers, identified herself in so marked a manner with the interests of the Russian Autocrat, Austria, from whom we would expect at least the same line of conduct, has kept aloof from any interference in the struggle, at least in favor of Russia. Although the Emperor of Austria is under far greater obligations to his brother of Russia than the King of Prussia, yet he has not allowed himself to be swerved from the strictest neutrality. Although he does not allow the Poles of Galicia to march to the assistance of their brethren in Russian Poland, yet he has refrained from acting either spy or policeman for the Russians. Not even the remembrance of the assistance afforded the Austrians by the Russians during the hour of their need in the Hungarian revolution can make the Emperor Francis Joseph countenance the tyranical conduct which led to the present insurrection. We cannot look upon the part taken by the Emperor of Austria otherwise than as an indication that he is disposed to lean henceforth rather on the side of constitutionalism than absolutism; that he is disposed to be ranked with England rather than Russia or Prussia. Should he persevere in the path of reform which he has commenced, he will not only rescue his empire from the ruin into which it was falling, but eventually become the leading Germanic power, in spite of the efforts of the King of Prussia to forestall him.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

With the appointment of the Mayor as a Justice of the Peace for Saanich, or any other district, we do not see any grounds for finding fault, so far as concerns Mr. Harris. But if by this appointment alone, the interests of that locality are intended to be effectually advanced, we think a great mistake has been made. In order to give the inhabitants of any particular district in the colony the benefits resulting from the issuing of a commission of the peace for that place, some, at least, of the justices, should be residents of the locality for which the commission is issued. The object is to provide a magistrate within call—one who, by being on the spot, may exert a most beneficial influence in the maintenance of order in his neighborhood. We will suppose that anything occurs at a distance from Victoria, in which it is necessary to put the law in motion—such, for instance, as a theft, a simple breach of the peace, a murder—people should not be obliged, in order to obtain a warrant for the apprehension of the offender, to come all the way to this city. They should have the means of doing so at their own doors. If they are obliged to come to Victoria for justice, they may as well obtain it from Justice Pemberton. In advocating the appointment of rural magistrates, we have all along dwelt upon the necessity of selecting for that purpose intelligent and respectable men who not only have property in the country but who are actual residents in the locality over which they have jurisdiction. Every local magistrate must be looked upon as a most effectual assistant of the Executive in maintaining the general good government of the country, and as such should be at his post. The appointment of Major Briggs for one of the northern districts, of which he is a resident, was a step in the right direction, and as such is to be commended. Did the Governor, in issuing a commission of the peace for Saanich District, see fit to include in it the name of Mr. Harris, along with those of others who are residents of that place, no fault could be found. The neglect, however, to do so, cannot be justified, especially whilst there are a sufficient number of gentlemen living in the district and owning property there in every way well qualified to fill the magisterial position. Without wishing to point out any one in preference to another, we would ask what reason there is for passing over the names of Mr. Anderson and Mr. Street, both of them residents and property owners in Saanich. Are they any way less likely to do public service as justices of the peace than the Mayor? We think not. We think therefore that it is only proper that others should be appointed as well as Mr. Harris, seeing that he resides in the city, and that in all future commissions regard should be had to the opportunity the nominees of the crown would have of doing service in their own neighborhood. We are glad to observe, however, that the Executive is at last moving in the matter. By a judicious selection of local magistrates in various parts of the country, much will be done to remove the unsatisfactory state of things hitherto prevailing in the Colony.

Inquest at the Boomerang.

(Before Dr. Dickson, Coroner.)

FRIDAY, 29th March, 1863.

An inquest upon view of the body of the late Mr. John Wood, comedian, was held at the Boomerang, yesterday, at 3 p.m.

The following gentlemen were empanelled to serve on the jury; Messrs. P. M. Backus. Wm. Oakley, J. H. Turner, T. H. McCann, Chas. W. Wallace, D. Lenevue, Edw. Langley, Rich. Stark, Jas. Moore, A. G. Brunn, R. Brodrick, W. Culverwell, J. Wilkie, D. Lindsay, Chas. Gentile, Saml Nesbitt, and W. H. Parsons. C. W. Wallace, was chosen foreman.

The coroner then stated to the jury, that information was coveyed to him the previous evening that the deceased had died suddenly and unexpectedly, and under circumstances of a mysterious nature, leading to the belief that an overdose of laudanum had been administered. Before taking any steps in the matter, hearing that Dr. Haggin had been called in previous to Mr. Wood's death, he (the coroner) had an interview with Dr. Haggin, who expressed it as his conviction, from the symptoms he had observed, that death had resulted from narcotic poison. Who and by what hand it was administered is, of course, not known. There was suspicion resting upon it sufficient, he considered, to make this inquest necessary. Drs. Forbes and Haggin had been directed to make a post mortem examination of the body; and Dr. Forbes and Mr. Searby would make a chemical analysis of the contents of the stomach. This would be a tedious and laborious process; and would occupy some time. He would therefore ask the jury to proceed to view the body, as it was desirable that it should be interred as soon as possible; and upon their return they would adjourn to the earliest convenient time, which would be Monday next. He would ask the jury to bear in mind that what he had stated was entirely suspicion without corroborative evidence.

The jury then repaired to the residence of Dr. De Wolf, and after viewing the body, returned to the Boomerang, when the inquest was adjourned to Monday next.

PORCINE.—A case illustrating the force of the old adage "that it is useless to close the door when the horse is out of the stable," was illustrated yesterday in the police court. A youth named Walter Hogg sued Peter Laverie, a Frenchman, for $40, alleged to be due for one months' wages. Lavarie did not deny the debt but claimed a set off of $10 paid for the recovery of a pig which Hogg had lost. Hogg said that a horse got out of the stable, and while running to close the door, he left another door open when his porkship made his exit. He did not however consider that he was in any way responsible for the truant animal as he was a general servant, and had no defined duties. Lavarie, the defendant, stated that he had spent a whole week in the search for the pig, which was a large and valuable animal, and finally had to pay $10 to another man to find it. The magistrate considered that the plaintiff was a well paid servant, and it was part of his duty to take due care of his master's property. He therefore considered the defendant's tender sufficient, and gave judgment in his favor with costs.

JAMES WRIGHT.—This imposter, who excited so much laughter in the Police Court on Thursday, came up on remand yesterday, and handed in to the Bench a dirty slip of paper, which was understood to convey a proof of employment at Port Ludlow. The magistrate then asked the prisoner whether he could proceed across the Sound by the Eliza Anderson? to which he replied, "How can I, yer honor! I may be a cripple for life, from the state of me back?" The magistrate here informed him that the doctor had recommended his detention for a couple of days. "That's jist what I want," interrupted Wright. "Then I give you what you want," observed Mr. Pemberton. The prisoner made as profound a bow to the Court as his infirmities would admit of, and was removed with an evident leer of satisfaction beaming in his haggard countenance.

FROM BENTINCK ARM.—The schooner Rebecca, McAlmond, arrived yesterday from Bella Coola, which place she left on the 22d inst. All was then quiet. The natives were orderly, but the settlers were anxiously waiting for a gunboat to come and seize the culprits, who recently murdered three white men. The men and their whereabouts were well known. The Rebecca passed about 20 large canoes coming down to Victoria from Queen Charlotte Sound.

APPOINTMENT.—Mr. Alex. H. Wallace, of New Aberdeen, Bella Coola, has received from His Excellency the Governor, through H Hamley, Esq., Collector of Customs at New Westminster, the appointment of Custom House officer at Bentinck Arm and other places on the North West Coast of British Columbia. The appointment bears date from the 28th inst.

FURTHER REMAND.—The Indian prisoners brought up in the Police Court yesterday were, upon the application of Supt. Smith, who stated that some of the parties concerned were still at large, and he had received orders to proceed up in search of them. Remanded for a period of seven days.

A STRIKE.—The ship-wrights who went over to build Capt. John Wright's new steamer at Port Ludlow, have returned. It would appear that dissatisfaction arose through the mode adopted for the payment of the men's wages and they consequently struck for wages.

FROM THE SOUND.—The schooner Northern Light arrived yesterday from Port Angelos, and left in the afternoon for the same port, with a few passengers. She brought files of Sound papers, containing nothing later, however, from the East.

WORTH CONSIDERING.—Can the Gas Company not spare our olfactory nerves a little more, and save us from the nauseous effluvium of impure gas which so frequently assails our sensitive organs in the streets?

DUST CART.—There is a chance for some enterprising man to benefit himself and the the public, by sprinkling the streets to lay the dust.

ELIZA ANDERSON.—This steamer arrived yesterday at 4 p. m. from New Westminster with a few passengers. She brought no later news from Cariboo.

FOR NEW WESTMINSTER.—The steamer Otter left last night shortly before 8 o'clock, with passengers and freight for New Westminster.

FOR THE SOUND.—The steamer Eliza Anderson left yesterday evening for ports on the Sound.

FROM NANAIMO.—The Victoria Packet arrived yesterday with a cargo of coals, consigned to Mr. C. B. Young.

Arrival of the Labouchere.

The Hudson Bay Company's steamer Labouchere, Capt. Swanson, arrived yesterday from a trading expedition on the North-west Coast of British Columbia. Her dates from Stikeen are up to May 12th.

The miners who had been wintering at the mouth did not start up the river until May 1, the river having been frozen over. No communication had been maintained with Shakesville, but Indians reported that Choquette and his party had crossed to the head waters of the Taco River, which flows into the sea, near Sitka, and found good diggings. It was feared that there would be a great scarcity of provisions up the river, at Shakesville, where about 80 men were wintering. The natives were very peaceable and caused no disturbance.

On the 4th of May a serious accident occurred on board the Labouchere. Mr. Chambers, the chief officer, was removing some loaded firearms which had been placed on the deck in case of need, and while in the act of putting them down in a deck cabin, one of them accidentally exploded, and lodged a charge of buckshot in his side. The shot passed through, carrying with it some portion of clothing, but fortunately escaping the ribs. The wound was of so serious a nature, that Capt. Swanson decided upon running to Sitka for medical aid, where he arrived on the 5th of May. Every attention was paid to the sufferer, who, we are happy to say, is now fast recovering.

On entering Sitka the Labouchere saluted the Governor with nine guns, and on the following day he paid the ship a visit, requesting in very good English that no more saluting should take place. His Excellency went over and seemed to take much interest in the different arrangements of the ship.

The town of Sitka did not present any signs of progress since it was last visited by the Labouchere. There was one Russian man of war lying at anchor there. There was also a screw-steamer and a sailing vessel fitting out for the Russian-American Company.

The Labouchere left Sitka May 7th, and reached Stekin on the 10th. She sailed again on the 12th and arrived at Fort Simpson on the 13th; here the vessel was hauled a-shore and her bottom cleaned. Left Fort Rupert on the 16th and anchored in Holmes' Bay. Passed the boat Endeavor with nine men on board in Grenvilles' Canal, bound north. Left the following day and anchored at Millbank; all the Indians away fishing. Sailed May 20th, anchored off Kemskuit and reached Bella Coola on the 21st; all quiet. Anchored off Fort Rupert on the 23rd: left on the 26th and passed H. M. Surveying steamer Beaver at anchor near Point Chatham. Arrived at Nanaimo same day. took in coal and proceeded to Victoria yesterday morning.

The Labouchere brought down as passengers from Fort Simpson the Rev. Mr. Duncan, of Church of England Mission, and from Fort Rupert Mr. Landale, civil engineer, and has a cargo of firs, skins, etc.

GEOLOGICAL EXPLORATION.—We understand that Mr. Landale, C. E., who returned by the Labouchere from a geological surveying expedition on the North West Coast of the Island, on behalf of an enterprising firm in this city, has succeeded in discovering very satisfactory indications of coal and copper. He also found plumbago. The natives were very peaceably disposed, but lazy, and valued a days work at a shirt. Mr. Landale was frequently led into a wild-goose chase upon the representations of Indians that they could point out a spot where he could make some valuable discovery, and on arriving there they would show him slate stone, or something equally as worthless.

CARELESS.—Yesterday, as two young men were proceeding on the Craigflower road, a pistol ball passed close by their heads. A young lady and gentleman were observed practising with a six-shooter, but whether the shot was fired by the gentleman or the fair markswoman, they did not ascertain. If the former, we should recommend him to be more sure of his mark for the future.

☞ The Rev. Lachlan Taylor will preach in the Methodist Church on Pandora street, to-morrow, at half-past 10 in the forenoon. Many old friends from England and Canada will be delighted to listen again to the truly eloquent appeals of this zealous and devoted minister.

☞ H. M. surveying steamer Beaver was passed by the Labouchere on the 26th instant, lying at anchor near Point Chatham. No one was seen moving on deck, and it was supposed that the officers were out surveying.

BRIDGE RIVER GOLD DIGGINGS.

Large Nugget—Silver—Copper—Twenty Ounces per Day.

LILLOOET, May 24th.

A tempest in a tea-pot! Such would be the remark, I premise, did I indite you that the pulse of that "pivot of British Columbia"—that famous one-horse town of Lillooet—had quickened one or two throbs, and hourly becoming more excitable,—or, at the time I write this, many, like an impatient horse foaming and champing his bit, long for the morn, to visit the new El Dorado of Bridge River.

Some Chinamen working about 18 miles from here and 14 above the junction of Bridge and Fraser Rivers have come on a rich claim, rivalling the famous Williams Creek. The news I have is reliable—that is to say, substantially so. They made in half a day $600, and, variously, from 17 to 20 ounces per day. They also have found a nugget weighing $250—in shape long and flat, a hole through one end. It is free from quartz. They also have several smaller nuggets.

Quantities of gold have been obtained in this river since '58, but no thorough prospecting done, chiefly on account of the rise of provisions in days gone by; and I doubt now if that all-absorbing focus, Cariboo, leaves us a miner to send there to represent the white interest among the Celestials. The gold, in this instance, is found about 100 feet above the river. The Chinamen have brought water to it by a ditch. Besides gold, lumps of pure copper and silver have been found in the stream.

ROUTES.

I hope in a few days to confirm good accounts of other claims. All then will perhaps gracefully acknowledge the "Wright road in the right place." The irrepressible Bute, outlandish Bentinck, and the vulgar "extra," which smacks of the lips from that half-squeezed sour lemon, the Yale-Lytton route, may concentrate their energies in our "high-toned" respectable route, instead of tattooing puerile tracks all over the Cascade Mountains, to the delight of the map-maker and torment of travellers.

ITEMS.

At the ferry, the manager says he crosses over with 100 animals, as a daily average. A gentleman—not from Vicksburg—tried to turn the river with his mule. The mule and three hundred pounds of cargo were lost.

A wagon-builder is establishing himself here, and a Mr. McClure, from Red River, is commencing a tannery.

The "Human" have subscribed for a horse race for the 24th.

Moses and Abraham have sold to-day two tin two-bit boxes of boot-blacking. Commercially this is important, as it indicates a rise in flour.

KANGAROO.

LATER.

The nugget has arrived in town. At $16 per oz., it would be worth $275. Bridge River gold is worth, I think, $17 per oz. Mr. Howard, of Esquimalt, who is here, offered $291 and was refused.

POSTSCRIPT.

By the "interloption" of a former tillicum I open this letter. He informs me that in a former letter "I 'ave 'urt some countryman's feelings." He says he left his feelings round the 'orn. I suppose he meant Cape Horn. Afraid of more explanations, I stopped questioning. He joins with me before leaving in 'oping countryman will not be hangry but 'appy. Ooray for Bridge river! Hadow.

Queen's Birthday at Nanaimo.

NANAIMO, V. I. 26th May, 1863.

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST:—It is only once a year that the quietude of this locality is disturbed by anything so exciting as an exhibition of a series of athletic sports; and the anniversary of the birthday of our Gracious Queen, which was yesterday celebrated with great mirth and manifestations of loyalty, is the time chosen for this exhibition, always being observed as a general holiday.

The floating crimson and violet-tinted clouds during sunrise were cheering as a prospect of a fine day, which every person wished for.

H. M. S. "Cameleon" was gaily dressed with flags; the flag-staff at the residence of the magistrate was also showily dressed. Such a display of bunting was never before witnessed at Nanaimo. The Cameleon at 12 o'clock fired a royal salute, 21 guns, after which the band played "God Save the Queen." There was considerable "drumming" on board throughout the day.

The amusements commenced with an extraordinary foot-race by "non-professionals." The "athletes" had arrived, and the preliminaries were speedily arranged, and the signal to "go" given. Away went your humble servant, followed by four others, one of whom (being about a fathom longer than myself) managed to get ahead, allowing me, however, to get to the winning post second. Several other fast and closely contested foot races were run by parties who were considered initiated in pedestrian matters, and also by juveniles.

Sailing and shooting matches, each for $20, followed in the order in which they were arranged, and all of which were well contested.

The most exciting were canoe races, if any reliance can be placed on the shouts which unintermittently proceeded from the gallery where the disciples of Bacchus were congregated.

I cannot say the "the atmost decorum prevailed," as there was an average number of disturbances and disorders, but to catalogue these cases would prove neither interesting nor profitable. Despite the disorder the caterers for innocent amusement reaped a pretty fair harvest.

ANGLO.

Hume, the Spiritualist.

The New York Times of March 21st gives the following sketch of Hume, the spiritual medium:

What a singular history is that of Daniel Hume, the medium! Here is a young man, who, without illustrious birth, and without other merit than that of practicing brilliantly an acknowledged imposition, has jumped suddenly to a familiar association with monarchs and with the very highest nobility of Europe. After creating for himself a name in the spirit-world of America, Hume came to Europe, and we first hear of him in a prominent way at Florence, where, in a little circle of artists and literary people—of whom Hiram Powers, Mr. McKinney, the Brownings and Martineaus were members—he performed feats which rendered his name at once familiar to all the reading world of Europe. It was there that he met the Count Conchaloff, a Russian gentleman, whose sister he afterwards married. The Count brought Hume to Paris, and among other distinguished persons of Paris society whom he invited to his house to witness Hume's wonderful performances was the Count Bacchiochi, a relative of the Emperor, one of the Chamberlains of Her Majesty, and charged specially with the direction of the theatrical and other amusements of the Court. Whether M. Bacciochi became a convert to Hume's power, or only desired to fulfill faithfully his office of Court amuser, I do not know, but he introduced Hume at the Tuileries, and at the first sitting, at which only their Majesties and M. Bacciochi were present, Hume was fortunate enough to accomplish some of his most astounding feats. From that day, Hume has been a "pet" of the palace, and of the Court people generally.

His relation to the Emperor and Empress is that of an intimate friend, and he enjoys the extraordinary privilege of being admitted as a matter of course, to all the soirees, of whatever character, at the palace. As early as two years ago he had already gained such an influence with the Empress that she scolded him as she would a near friend for not coming to see her when she was in London on her way to Scotland; and when Hume objected, that he feared to disturb her in the state of mind she then was—the Duchess of Alba had just died—she replied that it was just because she had need of his "soothing sympathy" that she desired to see him. These two words, in fact, disclose more than all others the secret of Hume's power. He is rather tall and slim, has sandy hair and moustache, pale face and blue eyes. To great elegance of person and distinction of manners, he unites a mildness and tenderness of expression which those who come within his influence call angelic, and which sheds about him a sort of dreamy, unearthly charm scarcely powerfully enough expressed by the words "soothing sympathy." There is something mysterious in the man's organization which binds to him as by a spell other organizations peculiarly endowed. There is something in his look, in his presence, in the very atmosphere of his room, which imparts happiness and sunshine to those about him. Ladies of the highest birth sit on a stool at his feet, and gazing into his magnetic eyes, receive comfort and consolation from his lips. He calls them "my child," and gives advice like a father confessor. In an earlier and more superstitious period of the world's history, he would have passed for a being of divine origin, and would have had his disciples ready to suffer martyrdom in his defence.

Now, what is the explanation of this wonderful power? Is it a higher order of animal magnetism, or only adroit swindling? Hume protests that he is ignorant of the source from whence he derives his power; that it is not a study, but a gift; that it is an involuntary accompaniment of his being, from which he could not separate himself if he would. The persons who fall within his influence do not pretend to give a reason for their hallucination; they say that it does them good—that it renders them happy to come within the circle of his power; but they cannot tell why. Hume lives in the Place Vendome, as a guest in the family of the Count de ———, where he receives visits, presents, and invitations innumerable from persons of the highest rank in society. He is preparing for publication his personal memoirs, or rather his autobiography, for he is said to be fast declining with consumption—the same disease which lately killed his wife. He has a child, a wonderfully precocious boy, who is said to see and hold daily communication with his deceased mother, and who is thus growing up as much in the knowledge and affection of his mother as if she were still living and always present.

THE TRAGEDY OF MAZEPPA ENACTED IN REALITY.—The New Orleans correspondent of the Boston Journal writes as follows:—Your readers are familiar with the escape of Gen. A. J. Hamilton from Texas, but the general himself may still be ignorant of the fate of one of his companions, Clum McKane, whose adventures find no parallel save in the tragic play of Mazeppa. When Hamilton escaped from Texas, a reward of $1,000 was offered for his arrest, and he was pursued by a party of Texan Rangers, who followed him into Mexico, and while dogging his path in the rear, they sent messengers ahead who reported to the rancheroes that the general and his companions were a band of thieves. Finding it impossible to buy food on the road, Hamilton dispatched Clum to Camargo for a permit to travel. He was taken prisoner by the rebels, stripped naked and bound to a high spirited horse, which was let loose among the chaparell. The poor fellow was thus borne several miles, the thorns and points of the prickly pear lacerating his body in a shocking manner. Weak and bleeding, he was taken across the Rio Grande to San Ignacio, to be hung. A handkerchief which his would-be murderers had stolen from him was returned as he was entering the town, and this tied about his loins constituted his only covering. A relative of his wife interceded and saved his life, and he was taken to San Antonio and thrown into prison, where he remained some time with a ball and chain attached to his limbs. Having been captured on Mexican soil, Vidaurri, the Governor of New Leon, made a formal demand for his release, which the Confederates studiously concealed from the people, while they went through the form of a trial and released their prisoner. McKane made his way back to Mexico, and was among those who arrived here on the Kingston.

VICKSBURG.—To reduce no other point in the South have so many and such varied means been tried as in the case of Vicksburg. There was first the great naval bombardment by Farragut in the middle of last year, which was followed by the direct and sanguinary storming of its works by Sherman at the close of the year; and these have been followed by the numerous naval and military strategic devices which have occupied a great army and fleet during the whole of the first quarter of this year. First, the canalling project directly in front of the city, then the Lake Providence project; then the Yazoo Pass project; and then the project of the inextricable bayous. It is difficult to tell what plan, device, or coup, the military strategists who have this hard case in hand will next attempt; and newspaper strategy being at a discount, it might be unwise to make suggestions. It would appear, however, from our correspondent's letter, that the hope of starving out Vicksburg, on which people are now generally inclined to rely, is not likely soon to be realized. He found the whole of the region of country over which our forces traversed, superabundantly supplied with the necessaries of life, and they are all, of course, within arm's length of the Vicksburg garrison. What man of genius in this fertile land of genius—what skilful strategist in our army of strategist, will open up to our bewildered country and baffled Generals, some feasible mode of taking Vicksburg—and take it?—N. Y. Times.

FISH AS FOOD.—There is much nourishment in fish, little less than butcher's meat, weight for weight; and, in effect, it may be more nourishing, considering how, from its soft fibre, fish is more easily digested. Moreover, there is, I find, in fish a substance which does not exist in land animals, viz., iodine—a substance which may have a beneficial effect on the health, and tend to prevent the production of scrofulous and tubercular disease, the latter in the form of pulmonary consumption, one of the most cruel and fatal with which civilized, and the highly educated and refined, are afflicted. Comparative trials prove that, in the majority of fish, the proportion of solid matter—that is, the matter which remains after perfect dessication, or the expulsion of the aqueous part—is little inferior to that of the several kinds of butchers' meat, game or poultry. And if we give our attention to classes of people, classed as to the quality of food they principally subsist on, we find that the ichthyophagous class are especially strong, healthy and prolific. In no class than that of fishers do we see larger families, handsomer women, more robust and active men, or a greater exemption from the maladies just alluded to.—Dr. Davy's Angler and his Friend.

☞ One of the most splendid sights to be seen in San Francisco is the store of Heuston, Hastings & Co., Montgomery street, corner of Sutter, San Francisco. Never, perhaps, was a better stock on view in the whole Union. If you would like to be the owner of an outfit that cannot be excelled in the State for quality, style or make, send your measure, and you will have reason to say you were never better suited.

HOLLOWAYS OINTMENT AND PILLS.—The treatment pursued by Professor Holloway for the cure of wounds and ulcers is the most simple an certain in its effects, it has been tried by hundreds of thousands and never been known to fail; by the administration of an internal remedy (the Pills,) he drives disease out, and by the administration of an external remedy (the Ointment), he heals wounds, ulcers, and the worst of external disorders. By this celebrated treatment, also, bad legs and ulcers are cured, even when they have been upwards of twenty years standing

In the Machine Shop there are Bolt-cutting, Planing, and heavy turning Machines.

In the BLACKSMITH SHOP there is a powerful steam blast which enables the Proprietor to do Heavy Blacksmithing.

I can most sincerely say that I have never known any, however delicate to be injured by it in the least. I will continue to ask the afflicted, who have not used it, to try it for the following diseases If they are not satisfied with its healing properties, the money will be cheerfully refunded by the Agent where the medicine is for sale.

If you have Pain in the Stomach or Bowels, try a dose of Pain Panacea internally, bathe externally over the parts affected, and you will at once restore the proper action and relieve the pain.

If you have a Bruise or Wound, bathe it well with the Pain Panacea four times a day. It will relieve the pain, and take out all the poison, and heal the wound in a short time.

If you are suffering from Neuralgia or Rheumatic Pains, apply the Panacea freely, and take a dose of it internally, morning, noon and night; it will not only cure the pain, but will remove the cause of the disease.

If you have the Dispepsia, and your food distresses your stomach after eating, take a dose o Pain Panacea after each meal.

If you have a Cankered or Sore Mouth or Throat apply the Pain Panacea to the affected parts, an gargle the mouth or throat three or four times a day.

If you have the Diarrhæ, or a relaxed state of the bowels, take a few doses of Pain Panacea and they will soon be restored. If you have a painful swelling bathe the parts freely and you will soon relieve the pain, and the swelling will be reduced If you have a severe toothache, apply the Pain Panacea on a piece of cotton, and bathe the gum at the same time; it will stop the pain instantly

If you have a pain in the Side, Breast, Back, or Kidneys, bathe the parts affected morning and night; at the same time take a dose of the Panacea internally.

If a Mother has a Caked Breast, apply the Pain Panacea as hot as can be borne.

If you feel chilly or cold, as though you were going to have a fever, take a dose of Panacea.

If you have a wound, cut, or galls on you horse, apply the Pain Panacea; it will take out al the inflammation, and heal the sore in a shor time. Sold by all the principal druggists, and by

THE WORLD'S FRIEND!

Holloway's Ointment.

A Cure for Piles and Fistulas.

Inflammation of sensitive parts, piles, fistulas, and such like painful diseases may be presently relieved and ultimately cured, by the proper and diligent us of this cooling and healing Ointment, whose actio should, in such cases, be assisted by judicious doses of Pills: ere many days have elapsed the anxious patient will experience a wonderful degree of ease from this treatment. They are equally suitable to both sexes, and all ages.

Coughs, Colds, and Asthma.

These complaints of the chest come on with alarming frequency. The Ointment should assiduously be rubbed at least twice a day on the chest and between the shoulders, when the violence of all symptoms wil gradually give way, the breathing become longer, and the oppression less. No medicines are more efficient in chest complaints, none can be used with equal safety and certainty. Both Pills and Ointment are accompanied by very clear and simple directions for using them.

A Man who refused to have his Leg off.

"From the Kilrush Advertiser, June 2nd, 1860.

BENJAMIN COX, Esquire, Magistrate, said in the Board Room at Kilrush, that he knew a man who had been in the Infirmary and was actually turned out as incurable, on his way home to Kilrush, he purchased at Ennis, Holloway's Pills and Ointment, for as he said, it could not be worse with him. This man, said Mr. Cox, became by their use as sound and as healthy as any man in the room. These celebrated Pills and Ointment will cure y wound, sore, or ulcer, however long standing, properly used according to the printed directions.

Gout and Rheumatism.

The essence of these diseases lie in the blood, which has, floating through each vessel, the pain-giving poison, which irritates and inflames every tissue it comes in contact with, and produces the hot, swollen, elastic enlargement about the joints so characteristic of gouty diseases The philosophy of cure consists in overcoming this depravity in the blood, which is rapidly purified by the use of the Pills The Ointment, when rubbed upon the skin, penetrates system through the pores, acts in unison with Pills, and soon effects a cure.

Dropsy. Swollen Legs or Ankles.

The various kinds of dropsies, whether windy or watery, arise from some obstruction to the free circulation through the blood vessels or lymphatics, or depend on the inflamed state of some secreting surface Holloway's remedies, of which the efficacy cannot be exaggerated, act directly upon the blood, the absorbents and secretions, with a power that no dropsy, however inveterate, can long resist. They regulate the proper flow of blood to every organ, and purify it likewise,—they filter out everything that is morbid or injurious,—they thoroughly regenerate every function, yet potent as they are for good, they are powerless for evil. They do not contain mercury or any noxious substances. They act safely and certainly Bad Legs, Bad Breasts, and Old Ulcers.

This invaluable Ointment was never known to fail in the cure of any wound, any sore, or any ulcer,—as can be proved by innumerable testimonials from persons who had been discharged from Hospitals as incurable, and yet by perseverance they have been made as sound as they were the day they were born, by this incomparable Ointment. For pimples, blotches, scald heads, and scorbutic humours, it is equally efficacious.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases:

d Legs
d Breasts
urns
Bunions
Bite of Mosquitoes and Sand-Flies
Coco-bay
Scalds
Chiego-foot
Chilblains

A Greeting to the George Griswold.

(The ship which bore to the Mersey the contributions of the United States to the relief of Lancashire.)

Before thy stem smooth seas were curled,
Soft winds thy sail did move,
Good ship, that from the Western World
Bore freight of brother's love.

'Twixt starving here and striving there
When wrath flies to and fro,
Till all seems hatred everywhere,
How fair thy white wings show!

O'er the great seas thy keel ploughed through
Good ships have borne the chain
That should have knit Old World and New Across the weltering main.

The chain was borne—one kindly wave
Of speech pulsed through its coil;
Then dumb and dead in ocean's grave
Lay hope, and cost, and toil.

But thou, good ship, again hast brought
O'er these wide waves of blue,
The chain of kindly word and thought
To link those worlds anew.

Odds and Oddities.

Sentimental youth—My dear girl, will you share my lot for life?

Practical girl—How many acres is your lot, sir?

A woman purchasing cups and saucers was asked what colour she would have? "Why I ain't particular," said she; "any colour that won't show the dirt."

Why is a London milkman like Pharoah's daughter?—Because he takes a little profit out of the water.

What is the most daring theft a man can be guilty of?—Taking the chair at a public meeting.

What is the most wonderful of acrobatic feats?—For a man to revolve in his mind.

Wives are great helpmates. They help many husbands to dispose of their cash.

Over-warm friendships like hot potatoes are quickly dropped.

There is a class of people who ask you why you don't come to their house, but never say do. They are nearly related to the gentleman who has always got a bill to take up, whenever you wish to effect a small loan from him.

An irate old stage coachman, descanting upon the relative merits of the road and the train, thus expressed himself:—"If a stage coach gets a hupsete, or, may be, loses a wheel, vy, you get a fall, and bruises yerself, or may be, breaks a limb; but there ye'are: ve sees yer, and ve picks yer up, and conveys yer t'hospital. But them railway concerns meet with a accident there, and all I axes is, Where are yer?

"I've just come ance mair to ye, doctor," said Mrs. M'Tavish, to a druggist who had undertaken to cure her husband's deafness, "to see if ye can gie John something better, for the last bottle ye gae him did him nae gude ava." "Dear me," said the doctor, "did it not; I'm surprised at that; but it matters very little, for there's naething gaun on worth the hearing."

HEALTH FOR A SHILLING.

Holloway's Pills.

Headaches, Bile, Loss of Appetite, and Lowness of Spirits.

These Pills require no interruption of business or pleasure; they act mildly on the bowels, strengthe the stomach, and promote a healthy action of the liver, whereby they purify the blood, cleanse the skin, brace the nerves, and invigorate the while system. They effect a truly wonderful change in debilitated constitutions, as they create a healthy appetite correct indigestion, remove bile, giddiness, headaches, and palpitation of the heart.

Weakness and Debility.

of debility, languor, and nervousness gen excess of any kind, whether mental or phy effect of these Pills is in the highest degre bracing, renovating and restorative. They driv from the system the morbid cause of disease; re-establish the digestion, regulate all the secretions, brace the nervous system, raise the patient's spirits, and bring back the frame to its pristine health and vigor. They increase the appetite, while they secure perfect digestion to all ordinary food, and release the invalid from restraint in diet.

A Word to Females.

There are two periods, especially in Woman's life, which require for safe passage, judgment and attention. Irregularity is apt at those critical times to take place, and to lay the foundation of future disease. These Pills, safe in action, and effective in result, should be taken at certain periods, and the issue will be marvellous both to the young and the middle aged. They prevent nervousness, hysterics, dropsy, and a host of similar serious disorders, by expelling all impurities from the system, therefore none should ever be without them.

Coughs, Colds, and Asthmas,

No medicine will cure colds so quickly as these Pills, when of long duration or settled on the chest or even though it has assumed the first stage of asthma, they may be relied on as a certain and never failing cure, particularly if the Ointment be well rubbed into the chest and throat night and morning. this catch the eye of any asthmatical person so bad as even not able to lie down in bed, let him well use these two preparations for only a week, and the result will be marvellous.

Blood to the Head—Diseases of the Heart

More persons die suddenly from diseases of the heart than the unlearned suppose: in such complaints, the bowels should always be kept well open, as also where there is a tendency of blood to the head. These celebrated Pills purify the blood in an extraordinary manner, and should be taken in copious doses when such symptoms occur, taking care not to overload the stomach; by this means all danger is quickly averted.

Children's Complaints.

It is not generally known, but such is the fact, that children require medicine oftener than their parents. Three-fourths of the children die before they attain the age of eight years. Let mothers, then, be wise and give to their children small doses of these invaluable Pills once or twice every week, in such quantity as may act gently upon the system twice in the twenty-four hours. For infants, a Pill may be crushed and given as a powder in a little water. The gross humors that are constantly floating about in the blood of children, the forerunners of so many complaints, will thus be expelled, and the lives of thousands saved and preserved to their parents.

Holloway's Pills are the best remedy known in the world for the following diseases:

DR. J. COLLIS BROWNES

Chlorodyne.

CHOLERA, DYSENTERY, DIARRHŒA, CRAMP, AGUE, FEVER, RHEUMATISM, CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, COUGH, &c.

ALL PAIN, VOMITING AND DISTRES ceases in a few minutes after taking a dose of that wonderful SEDATIVE ANODYNE and ANTISPASMODIC remedy discovered by Dr. J. Collis Browne M.R.C.S.L., (ex-Army Med. Staff.) the recipe of which was confided solely to J. T. Davenport, 33 Great Russell street, Bloomsbury-square, London (Pharmaceutical Chemist). The medical testimony of civil, hospital, military and naval practitioners pronounces it INVALUABLE. It relieves pain of any kind, soothes the restlessness of fever, and imparts the most refreshing sleep, without producing or leaving any of the unpleasant effects of opium.

As a proof of its efficacy, a few extracts from numerous Testimonials by Physicians and Surgeons are given:

From W. Vesalius Pettigrew, M. D., Hon. F.R.C.S., England, formerly Lecturer upon Anatomy and Physiology at St. George's School of Medicine: "I have used it in Consumption, Asthma, Diarrhœa and other diseases, and am most perfectly satisfied with the results."

Dr. Gibbon, Army Medical Staff, Calcutta: "Two doses completely cured me of Diarrhœa."

From C. V. Ridout, Esq., Surgeon, Egham: "As an astringent in severe Diarrhœa and an antispasmodic in Colic and Cramps in the Abdomen, the relief is instantaneous."

Extracts from the General Board of Health, London, as to its efficacy in Cholera.

1st Stage of Premonitory—In this stage the remedy acts as a charm one dose generally sufficient.

2nd Stage, or that of Vomiting and Purging—In this stage the remedy possesses great power, more than any other we are acquainted with, two or three doses being sufficient.

3rd Stage, or Collapse—In all cases restoring the pulse. So strongly are we convinced of the immense value of this remedy, that we cannot too forcibly urge the necessity of using it in all cases.

From A. Montgomery, Esq., late Inspector of Hospitals, Bombay: "Chlorodyne is a most valuable remedy in Neuralgia, Asthma and Dysentery." To it I fairly owe my restoration to health after eighteen months' severe suffering, and when all other medicines had failed."

CAUTION.—In consequence of the extraordinary efficacy of this remedy, several unprincipled parties have been induced to vend imitations. Never be tempted to buy Chlorodyne, except in sealed bottles, having the Government stamp, with the words "Dr. J. Collis Browne's Chlorodyne" engraved thereon. A sheet full of medical testimonials accompanies each bottle. Sole manufacturer, J. T. DAVENPORT 33 Great Russell street, Bloomsbury, London. Sold in bottles, 2s 9d and 4s 6d. ju24wly

GOOD NEWS FOR EVERY ONE

KNOWLEDGE IS POWER. IF YOU DEsire to preserve your health, a knowledge of the laws for its preservation is essential. If you are ill, and have sought in vain for renewed health, what is the reason? Simply this, a want of information on the subject. The civilisation of the present day renders some aid to nature in the preservation and restoration of health indispensably necessary; and the only question is, whence is the required help to be obtained? Undoubtedly, by using Kaye's Worsdell's Vegetable Restorative Pills.

For the last thirty years the truth has been gaining ground that to purify the blood is the simplest and most natural way of restoring and maintaining health; and the great and distinguishing feature of these celebrated pills is, that they speedily eradicate all disease from the body, by purifying the blood; thus good health is at once secured, and all may ensure a sound constitution and complete freedom from pain and disease.

The pamphlet enclosed with each box of the pills gives most interesting particulars of many hundreds of cases of cure, together with instructions for the use of the medicine.
